

LG and CES2022

By George Harding

Tucson Computer Society

January 18, 2022

LG introduced several products at CES2022 this year: Each is an innovation.

TVs:

LG now has models ranging in size from 42 inch to 97 inch. Each is OLED, viewed by many as the best combination of resolution and clarity, with blacker blacks and whiter whites. These sets are also very thin. The 42 inch model is new and designed to fit in smaller spaces like the kitchen or your desk.

PuriCare Aero Tower:

This is a HEPA air filter that can be adjusted to direct its fan in any direction, up down, side-to-side or up. It is capable of removing nearly 100% of fine dust and allergens.

DualUp Monitor:

It has an unusual 16:18 aspect ratio. It's a vertical display with a 2,560 x 2,880-pixel resolution that LG is calling "Square Double QHD." When you use its vertical split view function, the DualUp looks like you put two 21.5—inch monitors on top of each other.

CLOi Guide Bot: Working as a smart and mobile concierge, CLOi can display facility information upon request, and conveniently escort visitors to their desired location.

S95QR Soundbar:

Insta-View Refrigerator:

The four sections are customizable as to color and content. The upper right shows the contents. Each section can be removed or moved around at purchase time. Thus, you can have a thin, two-section item, three or four.

See

LG at CES 2022: The Better Life You Deserve | LG USA

at

<https://www.lg.com/us/ces2022>

for more information.